

cerned. The dispatches further stated that the remainder of the fund, about $1,500,000, would probably go to Maryland, Missouri and Kentucky. These three States are no doubt making a better showing than Tennessee has made. The State of Maryland provides for the Negro youth, the State of Missouri has her State school at Jefferson City for Negroes. The State of Kentucky gives them a beautiful, well-equipped State Institution at Frankfort. Where, O where, can you find Tennessee's State Educational Institution for the Negro youth? Is the bewailing moan from her ill-treated citizens. The following dispatch relating to the matter was issued day before yesterday:

New York, Oct. 7.—Surprise was occasioned to-day when the Trustees of the Peabody education fund met in this city decided not to make a final distribution of the fund of $2,500,000 left by George Peabody, of Massachusetts, in 1867, for educating the children of Southern States. In establishing the fund the donor provided that the income of the $2,500,000 was to be used each year for educational purposes, and that at the end of thirty years the Trustees could distribute the money among such educational institutions as they should select.

At a previous meeting of the Trustees, among whom is President Roosevelt, it was practically decided to make the distribution. In 1875 the Trustees, believing that the Southern States were providing proper common school education for the children of that section, established the Peabody Normal College for Teachers in Nashville, Tenn. In the distribution of the fund it was intended to give $1,000,000 outright to this college and to apportion the balance of the fund among such other educational institutions as the Trustees should name.

The reason given for not making the distribution, it was stated, was that the Peabody Normal College for Teachers has not complied with the conditions stipulated by the Trustees when the college was founded. The agreement was that to entitle the Peabody College to $1,000,000 when the distribution was made, appropriations aggregating $750,000 must first be made for the benefit of the college by the city of Nashville, Davidson County and the State of Tennessee. Joseph H. Choate and Richard Olney, of the Board of Trustees, were appointed a committee to investigate whether this condition has been lived up to, and their report to-day showed that the city of Nashville and Davidson County have made appropriations amounting to $300,000, but that the State has as yet made no appropriation. The committee was given to understand, however, that the Legislature of the State, which will meet next January, will probably make the appropriation. Therefore the trustees decided not to distribute the fund until some time after next January. If the State of Tennessee makes the necessary appropriation the trustees may call a meeting in February in Washington, D. C., and then make the distribution.

MR. ARTHUR P. GREEN DIES IN ST. LOUIS, MO.

Mr. Arthur P. Green, formerly of this city, but who has resided in St. Louis, Mo., for about five years, died in that city Sunday evening at 9 p. m., October 4. Mr. Green underwent an operation for appendicitis, Thursday, October 1st, and at once seemed to be out of danger, but a reaction set up which resulted in his death on the date stated above. He had enjoyed good health up to about two weeks of his death. The remains arrived in Nashville Wednesday morning accompanied by his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green. Funeral services were held Thursday evening at the residence of Mrs. Jackson, Eighth avenue, North. Services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Jones, pastor of Lane Tabernacle C. M. E. Church, assisted by Revs. B. F. Amos, J. O. Kenney and Spencer Jackson. Miss Jennie Hadley performed at the piano; Mrs. Henry M. Cameron sang "Jesus is Mine." "Lead Kindly Light" was sung by the audience. The following intimate friends of the deceased acted as pallbearers: Messrs. Geo. O. Boyd, A. Julius Williams, Louis D. Bumbrey, Oscar Sawyers, Earnest Noel, Dorsey Granberry, of St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. Dorsey Granberry, of St. Louis, Mo., who acted as one of the pallbearers, was Mr. Green's roommate for three years. He went with him to the hospital in St. Louis, and left the next day to enter Meharry Medical College, this city. He did not know of the death of his friend until Thursday morning, just a few hours before the funeral.

Mr. Green was the brother of Miss Eva Green, one of the teachers in the city schools. He was well known in this city where he had a host of friends, who attested their esteem by their beautiful floral designs and their presence at the funeral services. He was a member of the order of Elks in St. Louis. His fellow lodgers looked after him in every way possible during his illness and made all arrangements for sending the body to his native home. They also sent a beautiful floral design from St. Louis. Mr. Green was a model young man and made friends wherever he went. One sister, Miss Eva Green, and two brothers, Robert and Winston, survive him.

SERGT. SMITH SHOTS TWO MEN. One Dead, the Other Dangerously Wounded.

While in the discharge of his duty Sergt. George Smith, a member of the Nashville police force, a man highly respected by all classes of citizens, a man fully competent, an efficient officer, a polite and self-respecting citizen, was compelled to shoot two men whom he had placed under arrest Wednesday morning. Sergeant Smith has been a member of the Nashville police department for a long time and his conduct as an officer has not as yet been questioned. Judging from the account of the affair, it would seem that he was justified, and that only in the protection of his own life did he fire the fatal shot. It appears that his escape was a narrow one, and that for his courage and presence of mind, a different story would have been printed and much more sorrow would have been brought through Greater Nashville.

On Wednesday morning after the shooting the following account appeared in a morning paper:

In an attempt to escape after being arrested about 1:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, Lucian Farish was shot and instantly killed by Sergt. George Smith, the brother of the dead man, Hubbard Farish, was dangerously wounded and Sergt. Smith himself was badly beaten about the head. The tragedy took place almost directly in front of the fire hall adjoining the police station.

The Farish brothers were arrested on the Public Square by Sergt. Smith and were being taken to the police station by him. Both the brothers were drunk, and Hubbard Farish, carried a heavy stick. As they were about to enter the police station, Hubbard Farish exclaimed, "This is far enough; I'm not going another d—d step." Both the prisoners attempted to run, and Hubbard Farish struck viciously at Sergt. Smith with a large stick he carried. Lucian Farish broke away and ran only a few steps when he fell, shot through the heart.

In the meantime Sergt. Waddell, on duty at the desk within the station, rushed out and found Hubbard Farish and Sergt. Smith in the difficulty, the Sergt. blinded by blood and attempting to shoot Hubbard Farish, who was beating him over the head. When Sergt. Waddell ran out, Hubbard Farish, who had already been shot through the hip, started to run, but on command of Sergt. Waddell and at the point of a pistol, he stopped and was taken into the station.

The city ambulance came within a few minutes and took Sergt. Smith and Hubbard Farish to the City Hospital. It is said Farish will recover. Sergt. Smith is painfully but not seriously hurt.

The Farish brothers were first said to be from Franklin, living on Route No. 2, but it was stated later that Lucian Farish, the man who was killed, has lately lived on First avenue, this city. He was apparently about 30 years old, while Hubbard Farish is about 38. Lucian Farish, it is said, had been a blacksmith of this city, having formerly been engaged to shoe the horses for the fire department.

The Farish brothers were seen in a buggy early Tuesday night, near the Maxwell House, by Patrolman Castleman. They were apparently somewhat drunk at that time, and the patrolman thought then he would have to place them under arrest. When they passed Castleman, Lucian Farish is said to have jeered at the officer, and both went on at a rapid rate, throwing back some taunt at the patrolman.

When Hubbard Farish was being carried from the station to the ambulance, standing just outside, he was shrieking and praying, a part of his prayers being for "the man that did this."

From the reports of the conduct of the two brothers, who had been placed under arrest, it was close quarters for the officer. None will no doubt be able to forget this incident.

PASSES SWEENEY BILL OVER MAYOR'S VETO.

City Council Approves His Action on Ryman Line Resolution.

Two messages were received from Mayor Brown at the regular meeting of the city council Thursday night, one announcing his declination to subscribe to three paragraphs of the preamble of the resolution providing for an investigation of the lease of wharf property to the Ryman steamboat line, and the other announcing his veto of the Sweeney bill, depriving the board of health of authority to enforce the order recently promulgated by it, and prohibiting persons residing in suburban localities of the city from emptying waste water from their bath tubs and sinks into the alleys and streets adjacent to their premises. The message relative to the Ryman line affair has heretofore been printed, the other message is as follows:

MAYOR'S MESSAGE.

"To the Honorable City Council, Gentlemen: I herewith return, without my approval, Bill No. 131, passed at your last regular session, repealing section 964 of the Digest of the laws of the city.

"I understand that this bill was passed alone for the purpose of relieving certain classes of our citizens who had city water on their premises, but had no sewer connection, from the operation of section 964, which prohibits, among other things, the draining of surface water or dirty water into the streets or alleys.

"I am persuaded that the councilmen who voted for the passage of this bill did not realize that they were voting also at the same time to repeal a measure which prohibits the deposit in the streets and alleys of the city of ashes, cleanings and sweepings from houses, or any other trash, filth or offensive matter."

"Whatever may be said of the wisdom of repealing that portion of the above section relating to the draining of dirty water into the streets there can be, in my mind, no reason or excuse for repealing that portion of the law which prohibits the placing in alleys and streets refuse and filth of all character.

"We should place the health of the community above all other considerations, and no community can be a healthy community if refuse from houses, filth and offensive matter be allowed to accumulate in the streets and alleys of the city.

"I consider the repeal of this section a decided backward step in the health laws of the city.

"This, October 8, 1908.

"Respectfully submitted,
"JAS. S. BROWN, Mayor."

The reading of the mayor's message was followed by some discussion as to whether or not, in the event of the repeal of section 964, there would be no law in force against the deposit of ashes, etc., on public thoroughfares of the city. Councilman Sweeney evidently had anticipated that this very question would be raised, for he had in his possession a typewritten copy of another section of the digest making it unlawful to deposit ashes, etc., on streets and alleys of the city, this he read. The section is No. 353.

On a motion to pass the bill, the mayor's veto notwithstanding, seven councilmen voted "no," but four of them changed their votes.
